SUMMARY

I am an ambitious and flexible individual with a solid base in computer science that was built on practical experience and love for innovation. I am able to communicate ideas across technical to non-technical audiences in a very confident and articulate manner. Working within a team setting and problem-solving through technology to have a real-world impact is my true joy. A professional attitude, lifelong learning, agility, and a commitment to excellence underpin my character. My ambition is to build a great IT business vested with technical acumen, creative insights, and impactful communication.
